Honorary doctorate for Archana Surana

Archana Surana, Managing Trustee and Chief Mentor, Surana Educational Institutions, was conferred an Honorary Doctorate by Karnataka University, Dharwad, at its 73rd convocation, in recognition of her contribution to academics and research.

Surana Educational Institutions, a part of Micro Labs' initiative to give back to society, embodies the commitment to quality education. Surana College, from its humble beginning with 23 students and around 20 staff members in 1995, has today grown into a multi-campus facility spread over 1.75 lakh sqft in Bengaluru. The institution has a strong emphasis on quality and is ISO-certified. Its teaching staff comprises accomplished educators, many of whom hold Ph.D qualification. Having received an 'A plus' grade re-accreditation by NAAC, Sur-ana College has served over 40,000 students, offering a range of degree and postgraduate courses.

In addition to its educational pursuits, Surana College is deeply committed to corporate social responsibility (CSR). The institution has extended support to over 15,000 academically but financially challenged students through scholarship programmes. Its initiatives encompass a wide range of activities, such as adopting parks, planting more than 7,000 trees across Karnataka, and taking on the responsibility of villages. This includes offering skill development programmes, organising medical camps and providing assistance for disaster relief efforts.
