

My Dream

Once in my dream I woke up seeing a portal in my room. The portal was so attractive and dragged me towards it. As I went in, I became unconscious because it was like traveling 50 km in 1 second, and I was traveling to another dimension. I reached, but still I was unconscious. After a few minutes I got up, seeing many extinct animals, but not normal ones. All the animals were talking; for example, dogs were not barking but speaking, unicorns were like giraffes with small wings, and ants were way bigger than the earth's dimensions. I am shocked, like, in which world am I? I saw a grandpa going somewhere. He also wasn't normal; he was on a cloud, yes! He was so fast I didn't keep up. Then I saw a volcano and an earthquake at the same time. Then I saw a cave. I went in, but no other animals cared. Then the earthquake stopped gradually, but the volcano was going to erupt. I was going to reach high ground level. The volcano erupted, but it wasn't lava—yummy candies, wow. Suddenly a rock slipped. OMG! I was about to fall, then I started flying, but at a little height. I thought I'd try out other powers, so I took the candy and ate it, wondering how much I could, and again I tried flying, but I couldn't because I weighed like a gorilla. Then I saw the grandpa again, and I wanted to ask him, "Currently, we are in which year?" He must have thought that I was speaking to an animal. He was shocked while looking at me; he left the food and took me to the cave and asked, "Are you from Mars?" I said no, and then he asked, Are you from the sun? Again I replied no, and again he asked, Are you from another dimension?" I said no, then he said, However it comes, that's it. He vanished. I was searching for him, then I spotted an old box in the grandpa's cave. I know it is bad to open it, but still I opened it, and I saw a picture of my ancestor and animals. I was like, "Who cares?" Then I found a half-torn page telling me that "for the people who have come, you can't leave this dimension, accept your wrongs, and ... humans, I am so... you can't leave..." As you have.... That is.... After reading the first two lines, I got scared, then I noticed the grandpa nearing me and telling me to apologize. He screamed a lot; I felt sorry. I apologized to him by saying that "you can punish me for my act." With all those happenings, I came to my beloved earth.... I am still wondering why I had to say sorry.